INTRODUCTION

THIS "Key into the Language of America" which was written by Roger Williams in 1643, seven years after his founding of Providence, is our chief fund of information in regard to the manners and customs of our local Indians, as well as a vocabulary and phrase book of their language.

Soon after his arrival in America, Williams began to study the Indian language. He wrote; "My souls desire was to do the natives good, and to that end to have their language, which I afterwards printed," and "God was pleased to give me a painful Patient spirit to lodge with them, in their filthy smoke holes (even while I lived at Plymouth and Salem) to gain their tongue."

The "Key" is the first extensive vocabulary¹ or study of the Indian language printed in English and it must have been of great practical use to the missionaries, traders and early settlers in the outlying districts in New England.

The Narragansett Indians were a tribe located principally in the eastern part of the present "South County" of Rhode Island, which had gradually forced the neighboring tribes into submission. The Niantics on the west, the Cowesets, Shawomets and Nipmucs on the north, the island tribes to the east on the islands in Narragansett Bay, those on Block Island and on the eastern part of Long Island all became vassals and tributaries to the Narragansetts.

Shortly before the arrival of the Pilgrims, the Narragansetts, under their sachems, Mas-cus and Canonicus, had defeated the Wampanoag Indians on the east side of Narragansett Bay and had added that tribe and its subject tribes, such as the Pocassets and the Sakonnets, to their empire. The Massachusetts Indians under Chikataubet were also brought under the dominion of the Narragansetts.

At the height of their power the Narragansett sachems are said to have ruled some thirty thousand Indians, according to the estimate given by Richard Smith, Jr., which many later writers consider an exaggeration. Their domains extended to Weymouth on the northeast and to Mount Wachusett on the northwest, with the Atlantic Ocean as their east and south bounds.

As a vocabulary handbook, the "Key" has stood the test of almost three centuries and in our present twentieth century is carried as a pocket vocabulary by Mr. W. B. Cabot of Boston, when he wanders across the vast and lonely wastes of Labrador with Indians who are unacquainted with the English language. These Indians are Algonquians and of the same linguistic stock as our Narragansett Indians. Although their speech is a dialect somewhat different from the Narragansett dialect in which the "Key" is written, the roots are the same; and a person with a knowledge of the difference in accent and inflection of the two dialects can reconstruct one from a knowledge of the other. The variations in some of the dialects are illustrated by Roger Williams in the case of the word for dog, which is Ayim in the Narragansett dialect but becomes Alum in the Nipmuc dialect and Arum in that of the Quinnippiunk (New Haven, Connecticut) Indians.

Most of the literary productions of seventeenth century New England were religious controversial tracts, so that this scientific study of the customs and languages of the Indians by Roger Williams is a refreshing surprise, a sort of oasis in a desert of theological thoughts and phrases.

This "Key" is the first book on the Indian language in English, although there were alphabetical vocabularies of the Aztec and other native Indian languages of Mexico, Central America and South America printed in Spanish and of the Huron tongue printed in French. There is, however, no evidence that Williams had seen one of these books or even knew of their existence, for the "Key" is arranged on an entirely different plan.

The first edition of the "Key" was printed in London in 1643 by Gregory Dexter, who had previously printed a pamphlet on "Prelatical Episcopacy" by John Milton, the poet. Dexter came to America with Williams in 1644 and became one of the leading citizens of Providence. Williams taught Milton the Dutch language and in return Milton instructed Williams in some other languages.

Mr. Lawrence C. Wroth, Librarian of the John Carter Brown Library in Providence, has discovered some typographical variations in some of the copies of this edition of the "Key." His study on this subject will be published in the Rhode Island Historical Society's quarterly Collections for October 1936.

The second edition of the "Key" was published by the Massachusetts Historical Society in volumes three and five of the first series of their Collections, 1794 and 1798. The reprint does not include the metrical stanzas and is not verbatim, but consists of two series of extracts.

The third edition of the "Key" was published at Providence in 1827 as volume one of the Rhode Island Historical Society Collections. Zachariah Allen, Esq., presented to the Society a manuscript copy of the original edition of the "Key" in the Bodleian Library at Oxford. This copy was carefully compared with the copy of the first edition in the Massachusetts Historical Society Library. The long "s" and the original pagination were not retained.

The fourth edition of the "Key" was published at Providence in 1866, as volume one of the Narragansett Club Publications. The long "s" was retained and the original pagination is indicated by numbers in brackets. This volume was edited and copiously annotated by J. Hammond Trumbull, the noted philologist of the Indian language. This edition, which can be found in most of the larger libraries, is the one most useful to serious students of the Algonquian tongue.

The publication of this present fifth edition is made possible by the generosity of Miss Caroline Hazard. It is issued as part of Rhode Island's Tercentenary Celebration by the Rhode Island and Providence Plantations Tercentenary Committee, Inc., in an edition of one thousand copies and also one hundred and fifty copies on special paper. The type used in this edition was chosen on account of its similarity to that used in the first edition and this reprint has followed the first edition page for page and also line for line except in those few cases where technical differences between seventeenth century and modern type make this impossible. This reprint follows the text of the original editions in the John Carter Brown Library. In those cases of typographical variations the corrected form has been used, and the page and chapter numbering has been rectified. The long "s" has been transliterated in order to make the text easier reading for the present day reader, and the editorial notes, which would only be used by the more serious student, have been omitted in order to reduce the cost and so bring the price of the book within the means of most of the persons desirous of owning a copy of it. The purpose of this edition is to make possible a wider distribution of the work, and so to make its contents more easily accessible to persons interested in the customs, manners and language of the Narragansett Indians who formerly lived in and ruled the district that is now the State of Rhode Island.

O R,
An help to the Language of the Natives
in that part of AMERICA, called

Together, with briefe Observations of the Cu-stomes, Manners and Worships, &c. of the aforesaid Natives, in Peace and Warre, in Life and Death.

On all which are added Spirituall Observations, Generall and Particular by the Authour, of chiefe and speciall use (upon all occasions,) to all the Englisb Inhabiting those parts;
yet pleasant and profitable to
the view of all men:

BY ROGER WILLIAMS
of Providence in New-England.

LONDON,
Printed by Gregory Dexter, 1643.

To my Deare and Welbeloved
Friends and Countrey-men, in old and new ENGLAND.

Present you with a Key; I have not heard of the like, yet framed, since it pleased God to bring that mighty Continent of America to light: Others of my Countrey-men have often, and excellently, and lately written of the Countrey (and none that I know beyond the goodnesse and worth of it.)

This Key, respects the Native Language of it, and happily may unlocke some Rarities concerning the Natives themselves, not yet discovered.

I drew the Materialls in a rude lump at Sea, as a private helpe to my owne memory, that I might not by my present absence lightly lose what I had so dearely bought in some few yeares hardship, and charges among the Barbarians; yet being reminded by some, what pitie it were to bury those Materialls in my Grave at land or Sea; and withall, remembring how oft I have been importun'd by worthy friends, of all sorts, to afford them some helps this way.

To the Reader.

I resolved (by the assistance of the most High) to cast those Materialls into this Key, pleasant and profitable for All, but specially for my friends residing in those parts:

A little Key may open a Box, where lies a bunch of Keyes.

With this I have entred into the secrets of those Countries, where ever English dwel about two hundred miles, betweene the French and Dutch Plantations; for want of this, I know what grosse mis-takes my selfe and others have run into.

There is a mixture of this Language North and South, from the place of my abode, about six hundred miles; yet within the two hundred miles (aforementioned)

To the Reader.

oned) their Dialects doe exceedingly differ; yet not so, but (within that compasse) a man may, by this helpe, converse with thousands of Natives all over the Country: and by such converse it may please the Father of Mercies to spread civilitie, (and in his owne most holy season) Christianitie; for one Candle will light ten thousand, and it may please God to blesse a little Leaven to season the mightie Lump of those Peoples and Territories.

It is expected, that having had so much converse with these Natives, I should write some litle of them.

Concerning them (a little to gratifie expectation) I shall touch upon *four*e Heads:

First, by what Names they are distinguished.

Secondly, Their Originall and Descent.

Thirdly, their Religion, Manners, Customes, &c.

Fourthly, That great Point of their Conversion.

To the first, their Names are of two sorts:

A 3

First,

To the Reader.

First, those of the English giving: as Natives, Salvages, Indians, Wild-men, (so the Dutch call them Wilden) Abergeny men, Pagans, Barbarians, Heathen.

Secondly, their Names, which they give themselves.

I cannot observe, that they ever had (before the coming of the English, French or Dutch amongst them) any Names to difference themselves from strangers, for they knew none; but two sorts of names they had, and have amongst themselves.

First, generall, belonging to all Natives, as Ninnuock, Ninnimissinnûwock, Eniskeetompauwog, which signifies Men, Folke, or People.

Secondly, particular names, peculiar to severall Nations, of them amongst themselves, as, Nanhigganêuck, Massachusêuck, Cawsumsêuck, Cowwesêuck, Quintikóock, Qunnipiêuck, Pequittóog, &c.

They have often asked mee, why wee call them Indians Natives, &c. And understanding the reason, they will call themselves Indians, in opposition to English, &c.

For

To the Reader.

For the second Head proposed, their Originall and Descent.

From Adam and Noah that they spring, it is granted on all hands.

But for their later Descent, and whence they came into those pars, it seemes as hard to finde, as to finde the wellhead of some fresh Streame, which running many miles out of the Countrey to the salt Ocean, hath met with many mixing Streames by the way. They say themselves, that they have sprung and growne up in that very place, like the very trees of the wildernesse.

They say that their Great God Cawtán-towwit created those parts, as I observed in the Chapter of their Religion. They have no Clothes, Bookes, nor Letters, and conceive their Fathers never had; and therefore they are easily perswaded that the God that made English men is a greater God, because Hee hath so richly endowed the English above themselves: But when they heare that about sixteen hundred yeeres agoe, England and the Inhabitants thereof were like unto themselves, and since have received from God, Clothes, Bookes, &c. they are greatly affected with a secret hope concerning themselves.

To the Reader.

Wise and Judicious men, with whom I have discoursed, maintaine their Originall to be Northward from Tartaria: and at my now taking ship, at the Dutch Plantation, it pleased the Dutch Governour, (in some discourse with mee about the Natives), to draw their Line from Iceland, because the name Sackmakan (the name for an Indian Prince, about the Dutch) is the name for a Prince in Iceland.

Other opinions I could number up: under favour I shall present (not mine opinion, but) my Observations to the judgement of the Wise.

First, others (and my selfe) have conceived some of their words to hold affinitie with the Hebrew.

Secondly, they constantly annoint their heads as the Jewes did.

Thirdly, they give Dowries for their wives, as the Jewes did.

Fourthly (and which I have not so observed served amongst other Nations as amongst the Jewes, and these;) they constantly sepearate their Women (during the time of their monthly sicknesse) in a little house alone by themselves foure or five dayes, and hold it an Irreligious thing for either Father or Husband or any Male to come neere them.

To the Reader.

They have often asked me if it bee so with women of other Nations, and whether they are so separated: and for their practice they plead Nature and Tradition. Yet againe I have found a greater Affinity of their Language with the Greek Tongue.

2. As the Greekes and other Nations, and our selves call the seven Starres (or Charles Waine the Beare,) so doe they Mosk or Paukunnawaw the Beare.

3. They have many strange Relations of one Wétucks, a man that wrought great Miracles amongst them, and walking upon the waters,, &c. with some kind of broken Resemblance to the Sonne of God.

Lastly, it is famous that the Sowwest (Sowanin) is the great Subject of their discourse.

To the Reader.

course. From thence their Traditions. There they say (at the South-west) is the Court of their great God Cautántourwit: At the South-west are their Forefathers soules: to the South-west they goe themselves when they dye; From the South-west came their Corne, and Beanes out of their Great God Cautántowwits field: And indeed the further Northward and Westward from us their Corne will not grow, but to the Southward better and better. I dare not conjecture in these Vncertainties, I believe they are lost, and yet hope (in the Lords holy season) some of the wildest of them shall be found to share in the blood of the Son of God. To the third Head, concerning their Religion, Customes, Manners &c. I shall here say nothing, because in those 32. Chapters of the whole Book, I have briefly touched those of all sorts, from their Birth to their Burialls, and have endeavoured (as the Nature of the worke would give way) to bring some short Observations and Applications home to Europe from America.

Therefore

To the Reader

Therefore fourthly, to that great Point of their Conversion so much to bee longed for, and by all New-English so much pretended, and I hope in Truth.

For my selfe I have uprightly laboured to suite my endeavours to my pretences: and of later times (out of desire to attaine their Language) I have run through varieties of Intercourses with them Day and Night, Summer and Winter, by Land and Sea, particular passages tending to this, I have related divers, in the Chapter of their Religion.

Many solemne discourses I have had with all sorts of Nations of them, from one end of the Countrey to another (so farre as opportunity, and the little Language I have could reach.)

I know there is no small preparation in the hearts of Multitudes of them. I know their many solemne Confessions to my self, and one to another of their lost wandering Conditions.

I know strong Convictions upon the Consciences of many of them, and their desires uttred that way. I

To the Reader.

I know not with how little Knowledge and Grace of Christ the Lord may save, and therefore neither will despaire, nor report much.

But since it hath pleased some of my Worthy Country-men to mention (of late in print) VVequash, the Pécut Capitaine, I shall be bold so farre to second their Relations, as to relate mine owne Hopes of Him (though I dare not be so confident as others.

Two dayes before his Death, as I past up to Qunníbticut River, it pleased my worthy friend Mr. Fenwick whom I visited at his house in Say-Brook Fort at the mouth of that River) to tell me that my old friend VVequash lay very sick: I desired to see him, and Himselfe was pleased to be my Guide two mile where VVequash lay.

Amongst other discourse concerning his sickness and Death (in which hee freely bequeathed his son to Mr. Fenwick) I closed with him concerning his Soule: Hee told me that some two or three yeare before fore he had lodged at my House, where I acquainted him with the Condition of all mankind, & his Own in particular, how God created Man and Allthings : how Man fell from God, and of his present Enmity against God, and the wrath of God against Him untill Repentance : said he your words words were never out of my heart to this present; and said hee me much pray to Jesus Christ : I told him so did many English, French, and Dutch, who had never turned to God, nor loved Him : He replied in broken English : Me so big naughty Heart, me heart all one stone! Savory expressions using to breath from compunct and broken Hearts, and a fence of inward hardnesse and unbrokennesse. I had many discourses with him in his Life, but this was the summe of our last parting untill our generall meeting:

To the Reader.

Now because this is the great Inquiry of all men what Indians have been converted? what have the English done in those parts? what hopes of the Indians receiving the Knowledge of Christ !

And because to this Question, some put an an edge from the boast of the Jesuits in Canada and Maryland, and especially from the wonderfull conversions made by the Spaniards and Portugalls in the West-Indies, besides what I have here written, as also, beside what I have observed in the Chapter of their Religion! I shall further present you with a briefe Additionall discourse concerning this Great Point, being comfortably perswaded that that Father of Spirits, who was graciously pleased to perswade Japhet (the Gentiles) to dwell in the Tents of Shem (the Jewes) will in his holy season (I hope approaching) perswade, these Gentiles of America to partake of the mercies of Europe, and then shall bee fulfilled what is written, by the Prophet Malachi, from the rising of the Sunne in (Europe) to the going down of the same (in America) my Name shall great among the Gentiles.) So I desire to hope and pray,

Your unworthy Country-man

2. A Dialogue also I had thoughts of, but avoided for brevities sake, and yet (with no small paines) I have so framed every Chapter and the matter of it, as I may call it an Implicite Dialogue.

In the same leafe, in the word Ascowe-quáassin, the sound must not be on any of the Syllables, but on quáss, where the Acute or sharp sound is.

In the same leafe in the word Anspaump-maûntam, the sound must not be on any other syllable but Maûn, where the Circumflex or long sounding Accent is.

6. The English for every Indian word or phrase stands in a straight line directly against the Indian: yet sometimes there are two words for the same thing (for their Language is exceeding copious, and they have five or six words sometimes for one thing) and then the English stands against them both: for example in the second leafe,

Cotammâuntam	Are you busie?
Cotámmish	I hinder you.
Cotammúmmme }	You trouble me.
Cotamme }

Obs. They are as full of businesse, and as impatient of hinderance (in their kind) as any Merchant in Europe.

Nqussûtam	I am removing.
Notámmehick ewò	He hinders me.
Maumachíuash	Goods.

Kunnamâuog	Spoons.

Obs. In steed of shelves, they have severall baskets, wherein they put all their houshold-stuffe stuffe: they have some great bags or sacks made of Hempe, which will hold five or six bushells.

Táckunck, or, } Wéskhunck. }		Their pounding Mor- ter.
---------------------------------	--	-------------------------------------

Obs. Their women constantly beat all their corne with hand: they plant it, dresse it, gather it, barne it, beat it, and take as much paines as any people in the world, which labour is questionlesse one cause of their extraordinary ease of childbirth.

Kekíneas	Goe and see.
Squauntâumuck	At the doore.
Awâun keèn?	Who are you?
Keèn nétop	Is it you.
Pauquanamíinneá	Open me the doore.

Obs. Most commonly their houses are open, their doore is a hanging Mat, which being lift up, falls downe of it selfe; yet many of them get English boards and nailes, and make artificiall doores and bolts themselves, and others others make slighter doores of Burch or Chesnut barke, which they make fast with a cord in the night time, or when they go out of town, and then the last (that makes fast) goes out at the Chimney which is a large opening in the middle of their house, called:

Obs. They nurse all their children themselves; yet, if she be an high or rich woman, she maintaines a Nurse to tend the childe.

Waucháunama		Keep this for me.
Cuttatashiínnas		Lay these up for me.

Obs. Many of them begin to be furnished with English Chests; others, when they goe forth of towne, bring their goods (if they live neere) to the English to keepe for them, and their money they hang it about their necks, or lay it under their head when they sleepe.

Obs. Which some doe not, but they are rare Birds; for generally all the men throughout the Countrey have a Tobacco-bag, with a pipe in it, hanging at their back: sometimes they make such great pipes, both of wood and stone, that that they are two foot long, with men or beasts carved so big or massie, that a man may be hurt mortally by one of them; but these comonly come from the Mauquáuwogs, or the Men eaters, three or foure hundred miles from us: They have an excellent Art to cast our Pewter and Brasse into very neate and artificiall Pipes: They take their Wuttam-mâuog (tkat is, a weake Tobacco) which the men plant themselves, very frequently; yet I never see any take so excessively, as I have seene men in Europe; and yet excesse were more tolerable in them, because they want the refreshing of Beare and Wine, which God hath vouchsafed Europe.

they doe upon these occasions: From thick warme vallies, where they winter, they remove a little neerer to their Summer fields; when 'tis warme Spring, then they remove to their fields where they plant Corne.

In middle of Summer, because of the abundance of Fleas, which the dust of the house breeds, they will flie and remove on a sudden from one part of their field to a fresh place: And sometimes having fields a mile or two, or many miles asunder, when the worke of one field is over, they remove house to the other: If death fall in amongst them, they presently remove to a fresh place: If an enemie approach, they remove into a Thicket, or Swampe, unlesse they have some Fort to remove unto.

Sometimes they remove to a hunting house in the end of the yeere, and forsake it not untill till Snow lie thick, and then will travel home, men, women and children, thorow the snow, thirtie, yea, fiftie or sixtie miles; but their great remove is from their Summer fields to warme and thicke woodie bottomes where they winter: They are quicke; in halfe a day, yea, sometimes at few houres warning to be gone and the house up elsewhere; especially, if they have stakes readie pitcht for their Mats.

I once in travell lodged at a house, at which in my returne I hoped to have lodged againe there the next night, but the house was gone in that interim, and I was glad to lodge under a tree:

The men make the poles or stakes, but the women make and set up take downe, order, and carry the Mats and housholdstuffe.

Observation in generall.

The sociablenesse of the nature of man appeares in the wildest of them, who love societie; Families, cohabitation, and consociation of houses and townes together.

More particular:

- 1 How busie are the sonnes of men?
How full their heads and hands?
What noyse and tumults in our owne,
And eke in Pagan lands?
- 2 Yet I have found lesse noyse, more peace
In wilde America,
Where women quickly build the house,
And quickly move away.
English and Indians busie are,
In parts of their abode:
Yet both stand idle, till God's call
Set them to worke for God.

Obs Yet

Obs. Yet some cut their haire round, and some as low and as short as the sober English; yet I never saw any so to forget nature it selfe in such excessive length and monstrous fashion, as to the shame of the English Nation, I now (with grieve) see my Countrey-men in England are degenerated unto.

Wuttip. | The braine.

Ob. In the braine their opinion is, that the soule (of which we shall speake in the Chapter of Religion) keeps her chiefe seat and residence:

For the temper of the braine in quick apprehensions and accurate judgements (to say no more) the most high and sovereign God and Creator, hath not made them inferiour to Europeans.

The Mauquaûogs, or Men-eaters, that live two or three miles West from us, make a delicious monstrous dish of the head and brains of their enemies; which yet is no barre (when the time shall approach) against Gods call, and their repentance, and (who knowes but) a greater love to the Lord Jesus? great sinners forgiven love much.

I know the man yet living, who in time of warre, pretended to fall from his owne campe to the enemie, proffered his service in the front with them against his own Armie from whence he had revolted. Hee propounded such plausible advantages, that he drew them out to battell, himselfe keeping in the front; but on a sudden, shot their chiefe Leader and Captaine, and being shot, in a trice fetcht off his head, and returned immediatly to his own againe, from whom in pretence (though with this trecherous intention) hee had revolted: his act was false and trecherous, yet herein appeares policie, stoutnesse and activitie, &c.

Obs. Canounicus, the old high Sachim of the Nariganset Bay (a wise and peaceable Prince) once in a solemne Oration to my self, in a solemne assembly, using this word, said, I have never

never suffered any wrong to be offered to the English since they landed; nor never will: he often repeated this word, Wunnaumwáyeen, Englishman; if the Englishman speake true, if hee meane truly, then shall I goe to my grave in peace, and hope that the English and my posteritie shall live in love and peace together. I replied, that he had no cause (as I hoped) to question Englishmans, Wunnaumwáionck, that is, faithfulness, he having had long experience of their friendlinesse and trustinesse. He tooke a sticke and broke it into ten pieces, and related ten instances (laying downe a sticke to every instance) which gave him cause thus to feare and say; I satisfied him in some presently, and presented the rest to the Governours of the English, who, I hope, will be far from giving just cause to have Barbarians to question their Wunnaumwáionck, or faithfulness.

This Southwest wind is called by the New-English, the Sea turne, which comes from the Sunne in the morning, about nine or ten of the clock Southeast, and about South, and then strongest Southwest in the after-noone, and towards night, when it dies away.

It is rightly called the Sea turne, because the wind commonly all the Summer, comes off

off from the North and Northwest in the night, and then turnes againe about from the South in the day: as Salomon speaks of the vanitie of the Winds in their changes, Eccles. 1-6.

Generall Observations of the Winds.

God is wonderfully glorious in bringing the Winds out of his Treasure, and riding upon the wings of those Winds in the eyes of all the sonnes of men in all Coasts of the world.

More particular:

- 1 English and Indian both observe,
The various blasts of wind:

*And both I have heard in dreadfull stormes
Cry out aloud, I have sinn'd.*

*But when the stormes are turn'd to calmes,
And seas grow smooth and still:
Both turne (like Swine) to wallow in,
The filth of former will.*

*'Tis not a storme on sea, or shore,
'Tis not the VVord that can;
But 'tis the Spirit or Breath of God
That must renew the man.*

Against the Birds the Indians are very carefull, both to set their corne deep enough that it may have a strong root, not so apt to be pluckt up, (yet not too deep, lest they bury it, and it never come up:) as also they put up little watch-houses in the middle of their fields, in which they, or their biggest children lodge, and earely in the morning prevent the Birds: &c.

Generall Observations of the Sea.

How unsearchable are the depth of the Wisedome and Power of God in separating from Europe, Asia and Africa such a mightie vast continent as America is? and that for so many many ages? as also, by such a Western Ocean of about three thousand of English miles breadth in passage over?

Through dreadfull Seas to passe,
In tearing winds and roaring seas,
And calmes as smooth as glasse.
I have in Europes ships, oft been
In King of terrours hand;
When all have cri'd, Now, now we sinck,
Yet God brought safe to land.
Alone 'mongst Indians in Canoes,
Sometimes o're-turn'd, I have been
Halfe inch from death, in Ocean deepe,
Gods wonders I have seene.*

Aumsûog, & Munna-whatteaûg. | A Fish somewhat like a Herring.

Missúckeke-kéquoock. | Basse. The Indians (and the English too) make a daintie dish of the Uppaquóntup, or head of this Fish; and well they may, the braines and fat of it being very much, and sweet as marrow.

Kaúposh-shaûog. | Sturgeon.

Obs. Divers part of the Countrey abound with this Fish; yet the Natives for the goodness and greatnesse of it, much prize it and will neither furnish the English with so many, nor so cheape, that any great trade is like to be made of it, untill the English themselves are fit to follow the fishing.

The Natives venture one or two in a Canow, and with an harping Iron, or such like Instrument sticke this fish, and so hale it into their Canow; sometimes they take them by their nets, which they make strong of Hemp. Ashòp. | Their Nets. Which they will set thwart some little River or Cove wherein they kil Basse (at the fall of the water) with their arrows, or sharp sticks, especially if headed with Iron, gotten from the English, &c.

most hatefull to all Natives, and they call them filthy cut throats &c.

Poquaûhock.

Obs. This the English call Hens, a little thick shel-fiish, which the Indians wade deepe and dive for, and after they have eaten the meat there (in those which are good) they breake out of the shell, about halfe an inch of a blacke part of it, of which they make their Suckaûhock, or black money, which is to them pretious.

The generall Observation of Fish.

How many thousands of Millions of those under water, sea-Inhabitants, in all Coasts of the world preach to the sonnes of men on shore, to adore their glorious Maker by presenting themselves to Him as themselves (in a manner) present their lives from the wild Ocean, to the very doores of men, their fellow creatures in New England.

Of their nakednesse and clothing.

P Aũskesu.	Naked.
Pauskesítchick	Naked men and women.
Nippókiss.	I am naked.

They have a two-fold nakednesse:

First ordinary and constant, when although they have a Beasts skin, or an English mantle on, yet that covers ordinarily but their hinder parts and all the foreparts from top to toe, (excep their secret parts, covered with a little Apron, after the patterne of their and our first Parents) I say all else open and naked.

Their male children goe starke naked, and have no Apron untill they come to ten or twelve yeeres of age; their Female they, in a modest blush cover with a little Apron of an hand breadth from their very birth.

Their second nakednesse is when their men often abroad, and both men and women within doores, leave off their beasts skin, or English cloth and so (excepting their little Apron) are wholly naked; yet but few of the women but will keepe their skin or cloth (though loose) loose) or neare to them ready to gather it up about them.

Custom hath used their minds and bodies to it, and in such a freedom from any wantonnesse, that I have never seen that wantonnesse amongst them, as, (with grieve) I have heard of in Europe.

Obs. Our English clothes are so strange unto them, and their bodies inured so to indure the weather, that when (upon gift &c.) some of them have had English cloathes, yet in a showre of raine, I have seen them rather expose their skins to the wet then their cloaths, and therefore pull them off, and keep them drie.

Obs. While they are amongst the English they keep on the English apparell, but pull of all, as soone as they come againe into their owne Houses, and Company.

Generall Observations of their Garments.

How deep are the purposes and Councells, of God? what should bee the reason of this mighty difference of One mans children that all the Sonnes of men on this side the way (in Europe, Asia and Africa should have such plenteous clothing for Body for Soule! and the rest of Adams sonnes and Daughters on the

the other side, or America (some thinke as big as the other three,) should neither have nor desire clothing for their naked Soules, or Bodies.

CHAP. XXI.

Of Religion, the soule, &c.

M Anit-manittó. wock.	God, Gods.
---------------------------------	-------------------

Obs.

Obs. He that questions whether God made the World, the Indians will teach him. I must acknowledge I have received in my converse with them many Confirmations of those two great points, Heb. II. 6. viz:

1. That God is.

2. That hee is a rewarder of all them that diligently seek him.

They will generally confesse that God made all: but then in speciall, although they deny not that English-mans God made English Men, and the heavens and Earth there! yet their Gods made them and the Heaven, and Earth where they dwell.

Nummusquauna-	God is angry with me?
múckqun manit.

Obs. I have heard a poore Indian lamenting the losse of a child at break of day, call up his Wife and children, and all about him to Lamentation, and with abundance of teares cry out! O God thou hast taken away my child! thou art angry with me: O turne thine anger from me, and spare the rest of my children.

If they receive any good in hunting, fishing, Harvest &c. they acknowledge God in it.

Yea, if it be but an ordinary accident, a fall, &c. they will say God was angry and did it, musquàntum manit God is angry. But herein is their Misery.

First they branch their God-head into many Gods.

Secondly, attribute it to Creatures.

First, many Gods: they have given me the Names of thirty seven which I have, all which in their solemne Worships they invoke: as Kautántowwít the great South-West God, to to whose House all soules goe, and from whom came their Corne, Beanes, as they say.

Wompanand.	The Easterne God.
Chekesuwànd.	The Westerne God.
Wunнанaméanit.	The Northerne God.
Sowwanànd.	The Southerne God.
Wetuómanit.	The house God.

Even as the Papists have their He and Shee Saint Protectors as St. George, St. Patrick, St. Denis, Virgin Mary, &c.

Squáuanit.	The Womans God.
Muckquachuck-quànd.	The Childrens God,

Obs. I was once with a Native dying of a wound, given him by some murtherous English (who rob'd him and run him through with a Rapier, from whom in the heat of his wound, he at present escaped from them, but dying dying of his wound, they suffered Death at new Plymouth, in New-England, this Native dying call'd much upon Muckquachuckquànd, which of other Natives I understood (as they believed) had appeared to the dying young man, many yeares before, and bid him when ever he was in distresse call upon him.

Secondly, as they have many of these fained Deities: so worship they the Creatures in whom they conceive doth rest some Deitie:

Keesuckquànd.
Nanepaûshat.
Paumpágussit.
Yotáanit.

| The Sun God.
| The Moone God.
| The Sea.
| The Fire God,

Supposing that Deities be in these, &c.

When I have argued with them about their Fire-God: can it say they be but this fire must be a God, or Divine power, that out of a stone will arise in a Sparke and when a poore naked Indian is ready to starve with cold in the House, and especially in the Woods, often saves his life, doth dresse all our Food for us, and if it be angry will burne the House about us, yea if a spark fall into the drie wood, burnes up the Country, (though this burning of the Wood to them they count a benefit, Benefit both for destroying of vermin, and keeping downe the Weeds and thickets?)

Presentem narrat quælibet herba Deum.
Every little Grasse doth tell,
The sons of Men, there God doth dwell.

Besides there is a generall Custome amongst them, at the apprehension of any Excellency in Men, Women, Birds Beasts, Fish, &c. to cry out Manittóo, that is, it is a God, as thus if they see one man excell others in Wisdom, Valour, strength, Activity &c. they cry out Manittóo A God: and therefore when they talke amongst themselves of the English ships, and great buildings, of the plowing of their Fields, and especially of Bookes and Letters, they will end thus: Manittôwock They are Gods: Cummanittôo, you are a God, &c. A strong Conviction naturall in the soule of man, that God is; filling all things, and places, and that all Excellencies dwell in God, and proceed from him, and that they only are blessed who have that Jehovah their portion.

Nickómмо.

| A Feast or Dance.

Of this Feast they have publike, and private and that of two sorts.

First in sicknesse, or Drouth, or Warre or Famine. Secondly,

Secondly, After Harvest, after hunting, when they enjoy a caulme of Peace, Health, Plenty, Prosperity, then Nickómmo a Feast, especially in Winter, for then (as the Turke faith of the Christian, rather the Antichristian,) they run mad once a yeare) in their kind of Christmas feasting.

Powwaw.

| A Priest.

Powwaûog.

Obs. These doe begin and order their service, and Invocation of their Gods, and all the people follow, and joyne interchangeably in a laborious bodily service, unto sweatings, especially of the Priest, who spends himselfe in strange Antick Gestures, and Actions even unto fainting.

In sicknesse the Priest comes close to the sick person, and performes many strange Actions about him, aud threaten and conjures out the sicknesse. They conceive that there are many Gods or divine Powers within the body of a man: In his pulse, his heart, his Lungs, &c.

I confesse to have most of these their customes by their owne Relation, for after once being in their Houses and beholding what their Worship was, I durst never bee an eye witnesse, Spectatour, or looker on, least I should should have been partaker of Sathans Inventions and Worships, contrary to Ephes. 5, 14.

Nowemaúsitteem. | I give away at the Worship.

He or she that makes this Nickòmmo Feast or Dance, besides the Feasting of sometimes twenty, fifty, and hundreth, yea I have seene neere a thousand persons at one of these Feasts) they give I say a great quantity of money, and all sort of their goods (according to and sometimes beyond their Estate)

Obs. After I had (as farre as my language would reach) discoursed (upon a time) before the chiefe Sachim or Prince of the Countrey, with his Archpriests, and many other in a full Assembly; and being night, wearied with travell;

travell and discourse, I lay downe to rest; and before I slept, I heard this passage:

A Qunníhticut Indian (who had heard our discourse) told the Sachim Miantunnōmu, that soules went up to Heaven, or downe to Hell; For, saith he, Our fathers have told us, that our soules goe to the Southwest.

The Sachim answered, But how doe you know your selfe, that your soules goe to the Southwest; did you ever see a soule goe thither?

The Natiue replied; when did he (naming my selfe) see a soule goe to Heaven or Hell?

The Sachim againe replied: He hath books and writings, and one which God himselfe made, concerning mens soules, and therefore may well know more than wee that have none, but take all upon trust from our forefathers.

The said Sachim, and the chiefe of his people, discoursed by themselves, of keeping the Englishmans day of worship, which I could easily have brought the Countrey to, but that I was perswaded, and am, that Gods way is first to turne a soule from it's Idolls, both of heart, worship, and conversation, before it is capable of worship, to the true and living God, according to I Thes. 1. 9. You turned to

to God from Idolls to serve or worship the living and true God. As also, that the two first Principles and Foundations of true Religion or Worship of the true God in Christ, are Repentance from dead workes, and Faith towards God, before the Doctrine of Baptisme or washing and the laying on of hands, which containe the Ordinances and Practices of worship; the want of which, I conceive, is the bane of million of soules in England, and all other Nations professing to be Christian Nations, who are brought by publique authority to Baptisme and fellowship with God in Ordinances of worship, beforc the saving worke of Repentance, and a true turning to God, Heb. 6. 2.

CHAP. XXIV.

Concerning their Coyne.

THE Indians are ignorant of Europes Coyne; yet they have given a name to ours, and call it Monēash from the English Money.

Their owne is of two sorts; one white, which they make of the stem or stocke of the Periwinkle, which they call Metēauhock, when all the shell is broken off: and of this sort six of their small Beads (which they make with holes to string the bracelets) are currant with the English for a peny.

The second is black, incling to blew, which is made of the shell of a fish, which some English call Hens, Poquaûhock, and of this sort three make an English peny.

They that live upon the Sea side, generally make of it, and as many make as will.

The Indians bring downe all their sorts of Furs, which they take in the Countrey, both to the Indians and to the English for this Indian Money: this Money the English, French and Dutch, trade to the Indians, six hundred miles in severall parts (North and South from New-England England) for their Furres, and whatsoever they stand in need of from them: as Corne, Venison, &c.

Generall Observations of their debts.

It is an universall Disease of folly in men to desire to enter into not onely necessary, but unnecessary and tormenting debts contrary to the command of the only wise God: Owe no thing to any man, but that you love each other.

More particular:

*I have heard ingenuous Indians say,
In debts, they could not sleepe.
How far worse are such English then,
Who love in debts to keepe?*

*If debts of pounds cause restlesse nights
In trade with man and man,
How hard's that heart that millions owes
To God, and yet sleepe can?*

*Debts paid, sleep's sweet, sins paid, death's
sweet,
Death's night then's turn'd to light;
Who dies in sinnes unpaid, that soule
His light's eternall night.*

CHAP. XXVII.

Of their Hunting, &c.

WE shall not name over the severall sorts of Beasts which we named in the Chapter of Beasts.

The Natives hunt two wayes:

First, when they pursue their game (especially Deere, which is the generall and wonderfull plenteous hunting in the Countrey:) I say, they pursue in twentie, fortie, fiftie, yea, two or three hundred in a company, (as I have seene) when they drive the woods before them.

Secondly, They hunt by Traps of severall sorts, to which purpose, after they have observed in Spring-time and Summer the haunt of the Deere, then about Harvest, they goe ten or twentie together, and sometimes more, and withall (if it be not too farre) wives and children also, where they build up little hunting houses of Barks and Rushes (not comparable to their dwelling houses) and so each man takes his bounds of two, three, or foure miles, where hee sets thirty, forty, or fiftie Traps

Traps, and baits his Traps with that food the Deere loves, and once in two dayes he walks his round to view his Traps.

Obs. They are very tender of their Traps where they lie, and what comes at them; for they

they say, the Deere (whom they conceive have a Divine power in them) will soone smell and be gone.

Npunnowwáumen. | I must goe to my Traps.
 Nummíshkommin. | I have found a Deere;

Which sometimes they doe, taking a Wolfe in the very act of his greedy prey, when sometimes (the Wolfe being greedy of his prey) they kill him: sometimes the Wolfe having glutted himselfe with the one halfe, leaves the other for his next bait; but the glad Indian finding of it, prevents him.

And that wee may see how true it is, that all wild creatures, and many tame prey upon the poore Deere (which are there in a right Embleme of Gods persecuted, that is hunted people, as I observed in the Chapter of Beasts according to the old and true saying:

Imbelles Damæ quid nisi præda sumus?

To harmlesse Roes and Does,
 Both wilde and tame are foes.)

I remember how a poore Deere was long hunted and chased by a Wolfe, at last (as their manner is) after the chase of ten, it may be more miles running, the stout Wolfe tired out the nimble Deere, and seasing upon it, kill'd

kill'd: In the act of devouring his prey, two English Swine, big with Pig, past by, assaulted the Wolfe, drove him from his prey, and devoured so much of that poore Deere, as they both surfeted and dyed that night.

The Wolfe is an Embleme of a fierce blood-sucking persecutor.

The Swine of a covetous rooting worldling, both make a prey of the Lord Jesus in his poore servants.

Ncummóotamúck
qun natóqus.

| The Wolfe hath rob'd me.

Obs. When a Deere is caught by the leg in the Trap, sometimes there it lies a day together before the Indian come, and so lies a pray to the ranging Wolfe, and other wild Beasts (most commonly the Wolfe) who seaseth upon the Deere and robs the Indian (at his first devouring) of neere halfe his prey, and if the Indian come not the sooner, hee makes a second greedie Meale, and leaves him nothing but the bones, and the torne Deere-skins, especially if he call some of his greedy Companions to his bloody banquet.

Upon this the Indian makes a falling trap called Sunnúckhig, (with a great weight of stones) and so sometimes knocks the Wolfe on

on the head, with a gaineful Revenge, especially if it bee a blacke Wolfe, whose Skins they greatly prize.

There is a blessing upon endeavour, even to the wildest Indians; the sluggard rosts not that which he tooke in hunting but the substance of the diligent (either in earthly or heavenly affaires) is precious, Prov. 25.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Of their Gaming, &c.

THeir Games, (like the English) are of two sorts; private and publike:

Private, and sometimes publike; A Game like unto the English Cards; yet, in stead of Cards they play with strong Rushes.

Secondly, they have a kinde of Dice which are Plumb stones painted, which they cast in a Tray, with a mighty noyse and sweating: Their publike Games are solemnized with the meeting of hundreds; sometimes thousands, and consist of many vanities, none of which I durst ever be present at, that I might not countenance and partake of their folly, after I once saw the evill of them.

The chiefe Gamesters amongst them much desire to make their Gods side with them in their Games (as our English Gamesters so farre also acknowledge God) therefore I have seene them keepe as a precious stone a piece of Thunderbolt, which is like unto a Chrystall, which they dig out of the ground under some tree. Thunder-smitten, and from this stone they have an opinon of successe, and I have not heard any of these prove losers, which I conceive may be Satans policie and Gods holy Justice to harden them for their not rising higher from the Thunderbolt, to the God that send or shoots it.

Keesagúnnamun, Another kinde of solemne publike meeting, wherein they lie under the trees, in a kinde of Religious observation, and have a mixture of Devotions and sports: But their chiefest Idoll of all for sport and game, is (if their land be at peace) toward Harvest, when they set up a long house called Qunnèkamuck. Which signifies Long house, sometimes an hundred, sometimes two hundred foot long upon a plaine neer the Court (which they call Kittcickaúick) where many thousands, men and women meet, where he that goes in danceth in the sight of all the rest; and is prepared with money, coats, small breeches, knives, or what hee is able to reach to, and gives these things away to the poore, who yet must particularly beg and say, Cowequetúmmous, that is, I beseech you: which word (although there is not one common beggar amongst them) yet they will often use when their richest amongst them would fain obtain ought by gift.

Generall

Generall Observations of their Sports.

This life is a short minute, eternitie followes. On the improvement or dis-improvement of this short minute, depends a joyfull or dreadfull eternity; yet (which I tremble to thinke of) how cheape is this invaluable Jewell, and how many vaine inventions and foolish pastimes have the sonnes of men in all parts of the world found out, to passe time & post over this short minute of life, untill like some pleasant River they have past into mare mortuum, the dead sea of eternall lamentation.

An house fired.

Once lodging in an Indian house full of people, the whole Company (Women especially) cryed out in apprehension that the Enemy had fired the House, being about midnight: The house was fired but not by an Enemy: the men ran up on the house top, and with their naked hands beat out the Fire: One scorcht his leg, and suddenly after they came came into the house againe, undauntedly cut his leg with a knife to let out the burnt blood.

Generall Observations of their Warres.

How dreadfull and yet how righteous is it with the most righteous Judge of the whole World, that all the generations of Men being turn'd Enemies against, and fighting against Him who gives them breath and Being, and all things, (whom yet they cannot reach) should stab, kill, burne, murder and devoure each other?

Generall Observations of their paintings.

It hath been the foolish Custome of all barbarous Nations to paint and figure their Faces and Bodies (as it hath been to our shame and grieve, wee may remember it of some of our Fore-Fathers in this Nation.) How much then are we bound to our most holy Maker
for

for so much knowledge of himselfe revealed in so much Civility and Piety? and how should we also long and endeavour that América may partake of our mercy:

More particular :

*Truth is a Native, naked Beauty; but Lying Inventions are but Indian Paints,
2 Dissembling heartstheir Beautie's but a Lye, Truth is the proper Beauty of Gods Saints.*

*Fowle are the Indians Haire and painted Faces,
2 More foule such Haire, such Face in Israel.
England so calls her selfe, yet there's Absoloms foule Haire and Face of Jesabell.*

*Paints will not bide Christs washing Flames
of fire,
Fained Inventions will not bide such stormes:
O that we may prevent him, that betimes,
Repentance Teares may wash of all such

of Friends, and Neighbours, a poore empty visit and presence, and yet indeed this is very solemne, unlesse it be in infectious diseases, and then all forsake them and flie, that I have often seene a poore House left alone in the wild Woods, all being fled, the living not able to bury the dead: so terrible is the apprehension of an infectious disease, that not only persons, but the Houses and the whole Towne takes flight.

Obs. This Hot-house is a kind of little Cell or Cave, six or eight foot over, round, made on the side of a hill (commonly by some Rivulet or Brooke) into this frequently the men enter after they have exceedingly heated it with store of wood, laid upon an heape of stones in the midle. When they have taken out the fire, the stones keepe still a great heat: Ten, twelve, twenty more or lesse, enter at once starke naked, leaving their coats, small breeches (or aprons) at the doore, with one to keepe all: here doe they sit round these hot stones an houre or more, taking Tobacco, discoursing, and sweating together; which sweating they use for two ends: First, to cleanse their skin: Secondly, to purge their bodies, which doubtlesse is a great meanes of preserving them, and recovering them from diseases, especially from the French disease, which by sweating and some potions, they perfectly and speedily cure: when they come forth (which is matter of admiration) I have seene them runne (Summer and Winter) into the Brooks to coole them, without the least hurt.

Obs. These Priests and Conjurers (like Simon Magus) doe bewitch the people, and not onely take their Money, but doe most certainly (by the help of the Divell) worke great Cures though most certaine it is that the greatest part of their Priests doe meerely abuse them and get their Money, in the times of their sicknesse, and to my knowledge, long for sick times: and to that end the poore people store up Money, and spend both Money and goods on the Powwâws, or Priests in these times, the poore people commonly dye under their hands, for alas, they administer nothing but howle and roare, and hollow over them, and begin the song to the rest of the People about them, who all joyne (like a Quire) in Prayer to their Gods for them.

Nickeétem.	I am recovered.
Kitummâyi nick êekon.	I am just now recovered.

Generall Observation of their sicknesse.

It pleaseth the most righteous, and yet patient God to warne and summon, to try and arraigne the universall race of Adams sonnes (commonly) upon Beds of sicknesse before he proceed to execution of Death and Judgement: Blessed those soules which prevent Judgement, Death and sicknesse to, and before the evill dayes come, Arraigne, and Judge themselves, and being sick for Love to Christ, find him or seek him in his Ordinances below, and get unfained Assurance of Eternall enjoyment of Him, when they are here no more.

Chachéwunnea.	He is neere dead.
Kitonckquêi.	Hee is dead.
Nipwî mâw.	He is gone.
Kakitonckquêban.	They are dead and gone.
Sequttôi.	He is in blacke ;

That is, He hath some dead in his house (whether wife or child &c.) for although at the first being sicke, all the Women and Maides blacke their faces with soote and other blackings; yet upon the death of the sicke, the father, or husband, and all his neighbours, the Men also (as the English weare blacke mourning clothes) weare blacke Faces, and lay on soote very thicke, which I have often seene clotted with their teares.

This blacking and lamenting they observe in most dolefull manner, divers weekes and moneths; yea, a yeere, if the person be great and publike.

Sécut.	Soot.

Wunnowaúntam	Grieved and in bitter-
Wullóasin.	ness.
Nnowántam,nlôasin.	I am grieved for you.

Obs. As they abound in lamentations for the dead, so they abound in consolation to the the living, and visit them frequently, using this word Kutchímoke, Kutchímoke, Be of good cheere, which they expresse by stroaking the cheeke and head of the father or mother, husband or wife of the dead.

Chepassôtam.	The dead Sachim.

Chepeck.
Chepasquâw.	A dead woman.
Yo ápapan.	He that was here.
Sachimaûpan.	He that was Prince here.

Obs. These expressions they use, because, they abhorre to mention the dead by name, and therefore, if any man beare the name of the dead he changeth his name; and if any stranger accidentally name him, he is checkt, and if any wilfully name him he is fined; and and amongst States, the naming of their dead Sachims, is one ground of their warres; so terrible is the King of Terrors, Death, to all naturall men.

Aquie mîshash, aquie	} Doe not name.

Posakúnnamun.	To bury.

Aukùck

Aukùck pónamun.	To lay in the earth.
Wesquáubenan.	To wrap up, in winding mats or coats, as we say, winding sheets.

Mockuttásuit, One of the chiefest esteeme, who winds up and buries the dead, commonly some wife, grave, and well descended man hath that office.

When they come to the Grave, they lay the dead by the Grave's mouth, and then all sit downe and lament, that I have seen teares run downe the cheekes of stoutest Captaines, as well as little children in abundance: and after the dead is laid in Grave, and sometimes (in some parts) some goods cast in with them, They have then a second great lamentation, and upon the Grave is spread the Mat that the party died on, the Dish he eat in; and sometimes a faire Coat of skin hung upon the next tree to the Grave, which none will touch, but suffer it there to rot with the dead: Yea, I saw with mine owne eyes that at my late comming forth of the Countrey, the chiefe and most aged peaceable Father of the Countrey, Caunoūmicus, having buried his sonne, he burn'd his owne Palace, and all his goods in it, (amongst them to a great value) in a sollemne remembrance of his sonne, and in a kind of humble Expiation to the Gods, who

204 Of Death and Buriall, &c.
who (as they believe) had taken his sonne
from him.

The generall Observation of their Dead.

O, how terrible is the looke the speedy and serious thought of death to all the sons of men? Thrice happy those who are dead and risen with the Sonne of God, for they are past from death to life, and shall not see death (a heavenly sweet Paradox or Ridle)
as the Son of God hath promised them.

More particular:

*The Indians say their bodies die,
Their soules they doe not die;
Worse are then Indians such, as hold
The soules mortalitie.*

*Our hopelesse Bodie rots, say they,
Is gone eternally,
English hope better, yet some's hope
Proves endlesse miserie.*

*Two Worlds of men shall rise and stand
'Fore Christs most dreadfull barre;
Indians, and English naked too,
That now most gallant are.*

True

*True Christ most Glorious then shall make
New Earth, and Heavens New;
False Christs, false Christians then shall quake,
O blessed then the True.*

Now, to the most High and most Holy, Immortall, Invisible, and onely Wise God, who alone is Alpha and Omega, the Beginning and the Ending, the First and the Last, who Was and Is, and is to Come; from Whom, by Whom, and to Whom are all things; by Whose gracious assistance and wonderfull supportment in so many varieties of hardship and outward miseries, I have had such converse with Barbarous Nations, and have been mercifully assisted, to frame this poore KEY, which may, (through His Blessing) in His owne holy season) open a Doore; yea, Doors of unknowne Mercies to Us and Them, be Honour, Glory, Power, Riches, Wisdome, Goodnesse and Dominion ascribed by all His in Jesus Christ to Eternity, Amen.
